

The Vicente Teves Locsin, Jr. Research and Scholarship in Nursing Award

AWARD TO ADVANCE THE THEORY OF TECHNOLOGICAL COMPETENCY IN NURSING

The Vicente Teves Locsin, Jr. Award for Research and Scholarship in Nursing is established to promote dissemination of research and other scholarly works focused on advancing the middle-range theory of Technological Competency as Caring in Nursing. This award, established by Dr. Rozzano C. Locsin, is given in honor of his father whose guiding wisdom directed his pursuit of a career in nursing. As a result, Dr. Locsin was the first Filipino graduate of the Doctor of Philosophy in Nursing program of the University of the Philippines in 1988.

A Fellow of the American Academy of Nursing (FAAN) and the Philippine-American Academy of Science and Engineering (PAASE), he is a renowned global scholar with honorary and visiting professorships in universities in Uganda, Thailand, and the Philippines. He is Professor Emeritus of Florida Atlantic University, USA, and Professor of Nursing at University of Tokushima, Japan. The Annual Award of $750 embodies his commitment to advancing Nursing as a discipline of knowledge and a practice profession, through the integration of technology and caring in nursing.
